

WEIGHT GAIN TIPS

Change your dog's diet. Switch to a less common protein: lamb, salmon, duck or bison. Make sure you are offering a high-quality food.

In addition to kibble, offer a portion of a high-quality, canned food. Many times these are more appetizing. It can be warmed to be even more appealing.

Add a side protein to the daily ration. Boil and drain hamburger, white-meat chicken or offer salmon. Soft boiled eggs are also a good addition.

Add a good quality, dry cat food. Cat food is higher in fat and may be more easily digested. Add a ½ c to normal food; watch for digestive upsets at the change in food.

Offer cooked liver daily. 2 oz. for small dogs, 4 oz. for medium to large dogs.

There are many high-calorie supplements available at vet offices as well as pet stores.
